Mayor Promises 25 Per Cent Reduction In Tax Assessment

Is Conducting "Fearless Administration" For City—Speaks to Kiwanis Club on "Problems of Local Government."

Promising a 25 per cent reduction in the city tax rate—"if I can determine the amount of funds needed for unemployment relief for the next year" and stressing the fact that he is conducting a "fearless administration" Mayor Eugene Carey spoke to members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon on "The Problems of Local Government." The mayor was introduced by Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, chairman of the program committee, as "one of the unfortunates who was elected to office at the beginning of the great depression."

Vice President Howard R. St. John called the meeting to order, after which a letter of greeting was read from Alex Campbell, who is in London on his way to South Africa.

Tickets were distributed for the Kiwanis entertainment which is given yearly for the benefit of the club's milk fund. The various committees for the affair have begun to function, and it is expected that the same high standard of former years will be maintained in regard to the performances, while there will be a substantial reduction in the price of tickets.

Guests at Meeting

The following guests were introduced: Kiwanian Walter Thompson of Poughkeepsie, who purchased the first two tickets to the entertainment; W. A. Gunian of New York city, J. C. Goodman of Albany, Robert McKee and Thomas L. McKee of Staten Island, Ernest Lee of Beacon and William Shrine of Yonkers.

Mayor Carey opened his address by saying that he had received a great deal of criticism during his term of office, "but no more than I expected." He explained that politics would be played as long as the present form of government exists, but that he intended to do the best he could for the people of the community.

Speaking of relief, the mayor said that during the month of August after the first relief program had ended and before the new program had been started, there were 249 able bodied men on the relief list, fed by the city at a cost of some $2,000 weekly. Since the new program has been working, the cost has been reduced to $1,400 per week and about 150 of these men have been placed on the work roll.

The mayor then took occasion to refute remarks which he had heard since his election to the effect "that I am getting high hat." "While it is true that I was elected to the Twaalfskill Club," he said, "I have only been there three times and I joined mostly to exercise—I still travel with the same crowd, and if I miss speaking to people on the street it is because of the many worries on my mind. My hat is still the same size."

Lauds Van Keuren

The mayor lauded the work and interest of Scott Van Keuren of the Board of Public Works, saying that he was a hard worker who was approaching a nervous breakdown because of his great interest in every phase of labor in his department. "Mr. Van Keuren," said the mayor, "personally supervises the work of an average of 600 men in his department."

He then spoke of the relief work in regard to the several paving projects now being undertaken, and thought that "Amesite as a paving surface is wonderful." The project to have been conducted on South Wall street, where a new pavement was to have been laid, "will be scrapped, and the work will not be begun, because of the threats I have received from residents on that street, who wanted more than I could give them. I intend to impress upon the people that I am conducting a fearless administration and will not be bulldozed into any project," said the speaker with a great deal of emphasis.

The mayor then went into detail and figures of the sums expended and proposed for relief, and said "that if I could foresee the amount needed for the next year, I could reduce taxes next year by 25 per cent." He then made the startling statement that "the poor last year lived better than ever before, I believe." His explanation for this situation, which he said had been patiently borne by the taxpayer, was that organized lobbying and scientific workers were responsible for making the deplorable situation of the unemployed "a vivid picture in the minds of the governing forces of the country."

He explained that he had trouble with the "scientific worker" sent to supervise the relief in Kingston, and that her removal and the city's refusal to have another "scientific worker" take charge, had left the work to the city agencies which had conducted the work so well that the state had commended the city on its methods.

Assessment Problem

Tackling the raise in assessment the mayor said, "We had only one assessment battle on our hands, that of the New York Central Railroad, which wanted a reduction in assessment of $410,000. We compromised on a reduction of $45,000. I felt that the city had agreed to many of the suggestions of the rail-

Several Cases Before Culloton

The police court jury who had been summoned to hear the evidence in the case of William Whitaker of 17 Liberty street, Thursday evening, were notified that afternoon that it was not necessary to appear at the city hall as Attorney N. Levan Haver, who appeared for Whitaker, was to apply for a certificate to have the case considered by the grand jury instead of by a jury in police court. Whitaker was arrested on September 13, by Charles Roosa, who charged Whitaker with operating an automobile while intoxicated on Broadway, near Albany avenue.

After a lengthy trial in police court on Thursday before Judge Culloton in the cases of Martin J. Clare of Ramsey, N. J., and Vincent Mallen of Hastings, N. Y., they were found not guilty and discharged. Clare was charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated while Mallen, who was riding with Clare, was charged with public intoxication. They were represented at the trial by Attorney Robert Howard, while Attorney H. LeRoy Gill appeared for The People.

James Hicks of this city was arraigned Thursday evening before Judge Culloton on a charge of petit larceny. He was charged with cutting down and removing cedar trees from the property of Albert E. Milliken. Mr. Hicks entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing was adjourned to Saturday and bail fixed at $250.

Father And Two Sons Killed At Crossing

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP).—An after-supper automobile ride had ended today in the death of Benjamin Harrison French, 40-year-old plumber, and his two sons, all victims of an Erie Railroad grade crossing at Howells, three miles from this city.

Their light sedan was struck by an east bound Erie Limited. The sons, Russell, 15, and Herbert, 11, died almost instantly. Their father died later in Horton Memorial Hospital here.

Hazel French, twin sister of Herbert, started out on the ride with the others, but decided to leave the party and go back when the car was only one block from the crossing.

Daylight Time Ends Saturday

Daylight saving time which has been in effect during the summer months will cease Sunday morning at 2 o'clock when clocks will be turned back to Standard time and an hour of sleep which was lost last spring will be regained. With the return to "sun" time the railroads, steamboats and other public carriers will effect a new time-table schedule and once more public carriers and the public's watch will agree.

The housewife will appreciate the return to standard time. There will be less fuss and hurry in getting the folks off to work on time and less trouble in getting the kiddies off to school. This will be particularly true in country sections where daylight saving time has not been observed but where some member of the family worked or attended school in town where fast time was in effect.

By stopping the clock for an hour Saturday night before retiring you will be on time Sunday morning.

Rev. Edward Ton Accepts A Call

The Rev. Edward Ton, for a number of years pastor of the Reformed churches at Mt. Marion and High Woods, has tendered his resignation to accept a call tendered him by the Reformed Church at Castleton, near Albany. Under the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Ton the Mt. Marion and High Woods churches have prospered. Mr. Ton is a veteran of the World War and has been active in Legion affairs. He will remove to his new field within a short time.

VICE PRESIDENT CURTIS IN SOUTHERN KENTUCKY.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 23 (AP).—Vice President Charles Curtis went to southern Kentucky today to continue his campaign on behalf of the national Republican ticket.

He was able to speak at Bowling Green, Ky., in the afternoon and Hopkinsville at night.

Before a large crowd at Memorial Auditorium here last night, the 72-year-old vice president said he opposed cancellation of foreign war debts and declared the United States would be "first large country to recover from the depression."

Curtis said there had been 17 depressions in the history of the United States "and each time we have come out stronger than before.

"We realize," he said, "that this is a world wide depression and know that anything to improve conditions in other parts of the world will help our own country. We are, therefore ready to help other countries in every way possible * * * but this does not mean a cancellation of our foreign debts."

Federal Agents Visit East Strand Places

Defendants Arraigned Before Commissioner Connelly—Locate Still in Orange County.

Federal agents from the Kingston office descended on the lower section of Kingston Thursday and executed search warrants at three East Strand places where they allege intoxicants were housed in violation to the prohibition law. In all three places arrests were made.

At 55 East Strand the agents arrested Charles and James Coughlin and seized alleged beer and wine. Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connelly today both defendants waived examination and were held in $500 bail each.

Visiting 45 East Strand the agents arrested Edward R. Cashin and seized alleged beer. Before Commissioner Connelly today Cashin asked for a hearing. The matter was adjourned until Saturday and he was released in $500 bail.

Michael DeCico was arrested at 53 East Strand and held on a charge of possession of beer. Defendant waived examination and was held in $500 bail for federal court by Commissioner Connelly.

At Vail's Gate the agents visited Cedar Gardens and arrested William Gordon and Charles Perro. The agents seized a quantity of alleged beer and the two defendants will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Northrup in Newburgh on a charge of sale and possession.

On the old Squire Patten farm at Little Britain in Orange county the agents located a continuous process still which they charge was used to manufacture sugar alcohol. Gaepano Del Guidie and Tony Callasso were arrested on charges of manufacture and also possession of an unlicensed still. They will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Northrup today. The still was a very modern type of 3,000 gallon capacity and was equipped with electric pumps and other modern devices. A large quantity of sugar and mash was seized and also a quantity of product.

Wednesday the agents visited 85 Main street, Poughkeepsie, where they arrested Robert Brundle. On the premises the agents seized a quantity of alleged beer, mash, wine, whiskey and gin. The place was listed by the agents as a speakeasy and home brew plant. The defendant will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Platt on charges of sale and possession and manufacture.

ROOSEVELT SAYS PARTY LINES WILL BE BROKEN

San Francisco, Sept. 23 (AP).—With a prediction party lines would be broken more than ever before in history in the November elections, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today carried his Presidential campaign to within 35 miles of the legal residence of President Hoover, whom he hopes to succeed in the White House.

The Democratic nominee's statement that liberal Republicans were giving a "remarkable response" to his plea to forget party lines, was coupled with praise for Senator Hiram Johnson, California Independent Republican who often has clashed with President Hoover.

Shortly before he was welcomed by great San Francisco throngs last night, the New York governor in Sacramento—the state capital—described Johnson as "long a warrior in the ranks of true American progress" and endorsed his most recent criticism of the administration.

Earlier in the week Johnson had told the State Federation of Labor a government which "thinks only of a favored few  is unworthy of the name and unfit to govern."

YEAGER CARRIED HIS HOME COUNTY OF SULLIVAN

George A. Yeager, contesting candidate at the primary election Tuesday for member of congress, carried his home county of Sullivan by a small margin. He was about 300 ahead of Philip A. Goodwin, the successful Republican candidate in the primary contest, with practically the entire county in. Yeager was defeated by over 3,000 votes in Ulster county and Mr. Goodwin won out in the Republican contest by a large vote. Mr. Goodwin of Coxackie was the regularly endorsed candidate for the office and was opposed at the primaries by Mr. Yeager and Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford of Phoenicia trailed his two opponents far behind. Mr. Goodwin led in Greene and Columbia counties and Schoharie will add to his majority.

COLOMBIAN FORCES REPORTED MOBILIZING

Rio De Janeiro, Sept. 23 (AP).—Reports from Manouos, in western Brazil, today said Colombia was mobilizing troops and airplanes in the Putumayo district, near Leticia, over which there recently has been a clamor for war with Peru.

Six airplanes have been sent to La Chorrena, on the Putumayo river, the dispatch said, and the Colombian Garrisons at Popayan, San Miguel and Puerto Asis were proceeding toward the lower Putumayo and probably would concentrate at La Chorrena, from where they would embark for Leticia.

It added that 2,000 Colombians would soon pass through Brazilian territory to retake Leticia, which was seized by Peruvian civilians recently. Leticia is a Colombian river port.

Attorneys Argue 18th Amendment Invalid 6 Years

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23 (AP).—The argument that the Eighteenth Amendment is invalid because it never was submitted to the states for ratification was prepared to be submitted to the United States district court here today by local attorneys defending an alleged dry law violator.

The attorneys, Morris S. Snyder, John S. L. Yost and Joseph McCormick, have filed a demurrer and motion to quash indictments against their client who is charged with sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance.

In their brief it is asserted the Eighteenth Amendment has been void since January 17, 1926, because Section 3 of the amendment reads:

"This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the congress."

This procedure, they contend, never was literally followed.

Legion Auxiliary Makes Jelly For Needy

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion has preserved 235 glasses of jelly to be disposed of among the needy this winter and hopes to increase the number many times by working at the Legion Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street several days a week, making jelly out of pure fruit juice, sugar and jelling material sold under name of Certo.

The Certo is donated by the General Foods Corporation, manufacturers, and the other materials by Kingston merchants and friends of the Legion Auxiliary. Included on the list of donors are J. Liccardo, North Front street; C. A. Bennett, North Front street; M. H. Herzog, Kresge store and Newberry store of Wall street; A. D. Rose, Franklin street; F. B. Matthews, Railroad avenue; Mrs. Sam N. Mann, Mrs. H. DuBois and Mrs. Stanley Matthews.

Kinds of jelly made to date have been peach, grape, apple and crab-apple. When the work has been completed by the Legion ladies, the jelly will be displayed in the window of the Conway plumbing concern on Upper Broadway.

Certo is being used upon the recommendation that it aids in preserving jelly and makes fruit materials go much farther.

Domestic Birds And Parrot Fever

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP).—Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, whose 1929 campaign against psittacosis resulted in clamping down a strict parrot import quarantine, today warned that this method can not be expected to check new appearances of "parrot fever."

He said cases now arising are being traced almost invariably to domestic love birds, believed by physicians the source of Mrs. William E. Borah's illness.

Last night Dr. Cumming dispatched to Boise via airmail a packet of "parrot fever" convalescent serum for treatment of the Idaho senator's wife.

"The only case arising from an imported bird since we started the quarantine was a customs officer at San Diego, who went out to a ship and brought a bird ashore," said Dr. Cumming. "All the rest arose from domestic birds, and all thus far have been from the west coast."

O. W. Stewart Will Speak On Tuesday

One of the features of the Flying Squadron meetings for which preparations are being made in the city, is the noon luncheon which will be addressed by the Hon. Oliver W. Stewart. It will be held at twelve o'clock Tuesday September 27, in the Y. M. C. A.

Word precedes Mr. Stewart to the effect that he is a very popular speaker for such gatherings of men that he commands the respect of those who differ from him most widely, and reinforces the convictions of those dedicated to his cause.

For many years Mr. Stewart has been regarded as a speaker of high rank for gatherings of business men. To this session they are especially invited, but all men of the city and surrounding territory are most welcome.

As a legislator, writer, speaker, Mr. Stewart won his place in the prohibition reform when yet a young man. He holds it today with ease, with the power of years of experience multiplying that of his native gifts.

Mr. Stewart will deliver the closing message of the series at a mass meeting announced for eight o'clock on Tuesday in the First Baptist Church. This will be the only opportunity for the women of the community to hear him.

Would Pay Needy Veterans $1 A Day

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP).—A plan for paying needy veterans $1 a day on the balance of their readjusted bonus certificates will be laid before President Hoover by Representative Hamilton Fish, the New York representative said here yesterday.

Fish said he would go to Washington Saturday with the proposal, which he said he thinks will meet with the approval of the President and leaders of Congress.

Speaking at an American Legion luncheon, Representative Fish said under his plan the government would single out veterans out of employment or in dire need for the bonus-relief payments. He estimated the plan would cost $150,000,000 instead of $2,300,000,000 for payment of all certificates.

A speech which he made recently in Galway especially angered the government, these sources said, and led President De Valera's newspaper, the Irish Press, to warn the former president if he repeats the charges he may be tried before a military tribunal.

Price Cutting May Result In Strike By Dairy Farmers

(By The Associated Press.)

Seeking increased milk prices, dairy farmers in New York, Georgia and Iowa today considered joining in a strike movement to withhold their products from the market.

George N. Allen, secretary of an emergency committee formed by New York dairy sheds producers to investigate the causes of low milk prices, spoke of a possible state wide milk strike.

Officers of the Nebraska-Iowa Cooperative Milk Producers' Association already involved in a strike directed at two Omaha dairies which refused to accept an arbitration decision, said that by Monday they would have 1,000 men at work trying to turn customers of the dairies in question to others which accepted the decision.

Meanwhile, the Georgia Milk Producers' Federation declared a holiday for the producers of 20 counties. A spokesman for the organization said the purpose of the plan was to obtain "a fair price" from Atlanta distributors.

A committee representing the Adams Center farmers warned the United Milk Products Corporation that unless it acts to increase prices within 24 hours, no milk will be delivered at its plants.

The group also mentioned three Brooklyn companies which had refused to accept price increases recently adopted by the Dairymen's League and warned that they too would receive no milk.

Activities At The High School

The various organizations and clubs are gradually getting under way at Kingston High School. The musical groups have organized; Hi-Y is already active; the school newspaper, "Dame Rumor," will be issued for the first this year. As yet the senior and junior classes have not been organized. In fact, neither class has met.

In the musical department, Leonard H. Stine, musical director, has started a new class in voice training. This year is the first for this experiment and seems to be working out with great success. There are 24 students in the class. The course can be taken by anyone but must be included on the regular school program as a subject, just like theory or harmony classes. Many students who have been interested in voice training but who have not had the opportunity before, can now cultivate and develop their singing technique under the excellent guidance of Mr. Stine. Such training will lead to better appreciation of music and will make the semi-classical and classical more popular with the average student than the jazz.

Mr. Stine also announced that he contemplates giving another musical comedy this fall. It has been an annual accomplishment for the past five or six years. Every play produced by the able director has been an outstanding success and although this musical comedy has not been selected as yet one can be sure that it will be of great merit and live up to the past productions.

Choral and Glee Clubs.

There is a total of 110 boys and girls in the Choral and Glee Clubs. Mr. Stine has been testing voices for the past two weeks and now has selected two groups. The girls' chorus has 60 and the boys' has 50. They work individually throughout the year but have a joint concert in June in which the orchestra also takes part. It is from these clubs that the talent is chosen for the musical comedy.

The girls' club has organized a group of its own. That is, besides being a choral club, the members decided last year to make an organization out of the group, get pins and elect their own officers. This was agreed upon last spring but nothing more definite than that has developed. However, it is expected that within a week or two this club, like many others, will be underway.

Hi-Y Club.

The Boys Hi-Y Club met Wednesday night in their club rooms at the Y. M. C. A. for their first meeting and supper of the season. Many attended. This organization is one of the most active in the school and is really the foundation for many other organizations of its type throughout the Hudson valley.

There is also a Girls' Hi-Y organization or auxiliary that serves the boys through out the year. Many new members are being added to the list on the girls auxiliary and they will be initiated into the organization Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. [illegible]

Good Samaritans Not All Dead Yet

Amateur Auto Driver Takes His Family Out For a Ride and Has Exciting Time on a Mountain Road—Fruit Peddler and Another Man Came to His Aid.

That all Good Samaritans are far from dead yet is a fact that a certain amateur auto driver will vouch for. It seems that he recently became the owner of an automobile, and the other day decided to take his family out for a little outing to the Ashokan reservoir.

So lunch was packed in the back of the car and the family set forth. All went well and the reservoir was reached and the lunch enjoyed. Then the family started for home.

As they drove along the Ashokan Boulevard with plenty of time on their hands the driver of the car spied a road sign saying "Lomontville". As the road looked promising he turned in it and proceeded for some distance when the road began to get rougher and rougher as it commenced to climb uphill.

Soon he was driving his car in two ruts in the road which looked as though it was traveled over about once a day, if that. While climbing upwards in second speed he for some unknown reason suddenly decided to shift to high. He did so and his car stalled.

There he was many miles from nowhere with not a house in sight. The only moving thing visible was a cow who wandered up the road toward the car, stopped, gazed at the car and then ambled off into pasture land. The amateur driver pressed the starter on the car. It worked but the gasoline refused to ignite. He pulled out the choke and applied the starter; no luck.

He sat back in the driver's seat for a few minutes and then tried again to start the car. Still no luck.

Just how long he and his family sat there they forget, but to them it seemed hours. The road was narrow and the car too heavy for the man to turn around in the road and try to start it rolling downhill so that the engine would start turning over. Fortunately for the man the car had stopped on a comparatively level space in the road.

Just as he was resigning himself to get out and walk several miles to a telephone to ask for help a fruit peddler drove up in a Dodge truck. The driver of the stalled car hailed him, and the peddler stopped.

He proved Good Samaritan No. 1, for he assisted the driver of the stalled car to turn his machine around in the road so it faced downhill. This was done after considerable straining and muscle work for the stalled car weighed 2,700 pounds.

Then the fruit peddler used his truck to push the stalled car down the decline. Still the driver of the stalled car was unable to get his engine turning over, although he placed it in third gear. The peddler pushed the stalled car with his truck until a house by the side of the road was spied.

Here enters Good Samaritan No. 2, for the driver of the stalled car got out and rapped at the door. When the owner answered the rap he said he would be glad to see if he could discover what the trouble was, although he professed to know nothing about cars.

He got in the driver's seat, placed the car in second speed, the fruit peddler used his truck to give the stalled car another push down another incline and lo and behold, the engine of the stalled car started turning over.

That ended the troubles of the amateur and his family and they reached home without further difficulty, but you can't convince him that all the Good Samaritans are dead yet. He knows better.

THEY'RE MILDER
THEY TASTE BETTER

YOU would be astonished too, if you could see this machine that turns out 750 Chesterfields a minute . . . and every one as near perfect as cigarettes can be made.

But please bear this in mind. It is what happens before the tobacco goes into this machine that matters most. Rolling and packaging are important, but not nearly as important as the selection, blending and treatment of the tobacco.

That's why we keep telling you about the tobaccos used in Chesterfields. They're fine, mild, and pure tobaccos. We tell you about ageing and curing the tobaccos . . . about blending and cross-blending them . . . because they are things that count.

BAD BUSINESS JUDGMENT.

"I don't mind losing the money," said Ring Lardner once after betting on the wrong baseball team, "but I hate to have bad judgment." One of the most colossal examples of bad judgment on record appears, according to an expert, in the Insull business failure. Not that the properties from which this vast business structure was built were not good, on the whole, or are not good now. The bricks were sound. But the mortar and the architectural design left much to be desired, and the edifice, as all can see now, was over-large and top-heavy.

The expert finds "appallingly bad judgment rather than actual looting," as a major cause of the collapse. Also vast sums used in stock market gambling to help friends and influence the price of securities. He finds reckless over-capitalization. Above all he finds direct, responsible management disappearing in a vast, vague, irresponsible maze of interlocking directorates and holding companies.

It begins to look as if this handy device of business inflationists, the holding company, in the extent to which it has been used, is about the worst mistake of modern business. The latter years of the late boom brought on an orgy of holding companies, with everything owning everything else until even a Wall Street lawyer could hardly tell what any particular stock or bond represented. Now almost any competent and honest lawyer will confess that the holding company, while a useful and necessary device of modern business, must be more strictly controlled by law.

POPULAR SYMPHONIES

The managers of a number of the country's leading symphony orchestras have recently met and discussed their mutual problems. The depression has left most of them without the "angels" who paid their bills in the past. "Their spirits still may be willing," said one manager of the former millionaire patrons, "but their pocketbooks are weak." If the symphony orchestras of the nation are to survive, they will have to have popular support. This support is to be sought not in higher prices for tickets, but in increased patronage. More citizens will be enticed to more concerts. Prices may very well be reduced, in order to accomplish this, but the proportion of citizens attending a symphony series in any community will have to be raised.

It should not be as difficult as it sounds. In recent years many men and women and young people, without any particular musical background or training, have been "discovering" the satisfactions of great music greatly produced. Partly the introduction of music memory contests in the schools has contributed to their wider interest. There are some things the managers and conductors must do to increase patronage. The average length of concerts should be shortened. Musical students and artists may enjoy two hours of classical music at a sitting. Humbler music lovers will come again sooner, with keener appetite for more, after well-balanced programs lasting only an hour.

FREEDOM FOR STUDENTS.

President Machado of Cuba has freed 84 political prisoners, most of them college students. Some of them have been in prison for as much as a year without trial, for public criticism of the government. There are said to be 60 students still imprisoned. The liberation of many of them is expected.

This is somewhat reassuring to Americans whose political ideals have been shocked by Machado's ruthless [illegible]. He appears to be yielding [illegible] because he has [illegible] growing opposition from the public and the courts. There is hope that the little nation supposed to have been freed permanently from tyranny by American arms a generation ago will yet regain its lost liberty.

Incidentally this situation shows a vivid contrast between American students and foreign students. In Europe, Asia and Latin-America, university students usually take a lively and practical interest in politics. When they riot, it is usually a political demonstration. When American students riot, it is seldom anything more than a class scrap or a football celebration.

EXPENSIVE TRIBUTES

A claim filed against the estate of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick arouses many emotions in the reader. It was a bill for flowers used at her funeral, itemized as follows: Two hundred and fifty white orchids, $1,250; sprays of orchids, $40; decorative palms and ferns, $150; 21 boxes of tuberoses and gardenias, $525; 2,000 yellow roses, $850; 125 Farleyance ferns, $45; one door spray of orchids, five dozen tuberoses, $115; one door spray of 15 orchids and 300 valley tuberoses, $135, and a ball of red roses, $25.

In the garden of the home from which she moved not long before her death, and in the gardens of friends and relatives in and near Chicago, there must have been at that time many blossoms as lovely as the costly ones represented in that itemized claim. It is strange to what lengths conventional procedure carries humanity in its expression of grief and respect.

STROKE

Perhaps you are afraid of a stroke, a paralytic stroke, because you have learned that your blood pressure is high. Dr. H. O. Gune-Wardine, Great Britain, after observations on 150 cases of stroke with high blood pressure, tells us that strokes often attributed to shock, exertion, or emotion, are the result of an already existing pressure, which was increased by the influence of this shock, exertion or emotion.

Further, although the blood pressure in a normal middle-aged individual is about 135 or 140, when the armcuff of the blood pressure instrument is tightened up by air, pressures of 200 or over may not mean anything serious, if the pressure without the cuff—the natural pressure—is under 115.

When the cuff is tightened by air it is called the systolic pressure, and when the air pressure is removed, the natural pressure of the blood against the blood vessels is called the diastolic pressure.

As you know everybody in speaking of blood pressure, speaks of the systolic or the high reading, and Dr. Gune-Wardine, and practically all research physicians are more concerned with the diastolic or the natural blood pressure.

Therefore those individuals who have been worrying about systolic blood pressure of 160 to 200 or more should first learn whether or not their diastolic blood pressure is 115 or under, because strokes occur very rarely under 115.

Another interesting point observed is that stroke occurs more often in those cases with high blood pressure which show neither an enlarged heart nor symptoms of heart failure, and occurs very rarely in those cases where the heart is actually enlarged and where there are symptoms of heart failure.

This means then that the individual with actual enlargement of the heart, and active signs of heart disease—shortness of breath, swollen feet—is not likely to have a stroke of paralysis.

What is the lesson from these observations?

Stroke occurs most commonly in people who continue to work or play in defiance of their high diastolic pressure, without taking any thought of how easily a stroke may occur.

The thought then is that people with a high systolic pressure, but with a diastolic pressure of 115 or under are not likely to have a stroke. And even if they have 115 diastolic rest and care may prevent a stroke.

CLINTONDALE GRANGE TO HOLD "BOOSTER NIGHT"

Clintondale, Sept. 23.—A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend "Booster Night" to be held under the auspices of the Clintondale Grange on Friday evening, September 30. All former members, prospective members and anyone who is at all interested in the welfare of the community, will be made welcome. The program of the evening will be in charge of Mrs. Ralph Harcourt, lecturer of the Grange. The order of the affairs will consist of playing games, musical and vocal solos and recitations and short talks. All members are requested to come and bring friends along.

The regular meeting of the Clintondale Subordinate Grange was held on Monday evening at the Grange Hall with Master Winfield Jenkins presiding. At this time it was decided to hold a "Booster Night Program" as suggested by Ulster County Pomona Grange at their last meeting. The annual harvest home festival of the Grange will be held on Friday evening, September 23. At this time a clam chowder supper consisting of clam chowder, salad and rolls and coffee will be served for a very small amount by the Service and Hospitality Committee of the Grange consisting of Mrs. Helen Mount, Mrs. Grace Minard, Mrs. Emma Cole, Mrs. Bessie Gerow, Mrs. Leona York and Mrs. Lizzie Schepmoes, assisted by Mrs. Amy Atkins, Mrs. Beatrice Carter and Miss Irene Sickler. All are welcome. After supper an exhibit of plants and flowers and fruits will be held, after which the articles will be auctioned off and the proceeds added to the funds of the Grange.

After the business of the meeting was taken care of a social hour was enjoyed in charge of the Service and Hospitality Committee with Mrs. Grace Minard acting as chairman. The program consisted of a reading by Miss Ruth Williamson; reading, "A Fool's Prayer," by Mrs. Bessie Gerow; reading by Mrs. Anna Brown; solo by Charles Wood; remarks by Master Winfield Jenkins.

The guest of the evening was Master I. C. Barnes of Huguenot Grange of New Paltz, who spoke a few words of interest. After the meeting refreshments of cakes and coffee were served by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gerow, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, Mrs. Preston Coy, Mary Catherine Coy, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis and James Davis.

The next regular meeting of the Clintondale Subordinate Grange will be held on Hogday evening, October 3, at which time the first and second degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates by the degree team in charge of J. Wells Weaver. At this time the committee for refreshments will be Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hasbrouck, Peter Smith, Nellie Carter, Peter Rooney, Mrs. Eva Doolittle and Miss Irene Hyatt.

The regular meeting of the Clintondale Juvenile Grange was omitted on Monday as only four members were present.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: Rosamund Carew, Jervis Wayne, Conyer Scarle, Armando Richard from sea, offering disaster Anita about "bad luck" when he refuses her. Jervis and Ann pause into Nan are at luncheon with the Tetherings, where Nan and Ferdinand Francis prove to their own satisfaction that Rosamund's friend, Robert Leonard, engineer the bridge that almost changed Nan and Jervis to their deaths two days before.

Chapter 20

"ARE YOU HURT?"

NAN got up to say good-bye at a quarter to three. Her heart was like a hot burning coal. She had had to sit by Robert Leonard, to take her coffee from his hand, and to listen while he talked. Her burning anger lit a bright color in her cheeks and made her eyes brilliant. She felt as if anything she touched would be liable to scorch or go up in a little puff of smoke. It was a dreadful feeling of course, but it made her very sure of herself.

When she got up to go, Leonard looked at his watch and exclaimed.

"I'd no idea it was so late! I ought to be attending to my incubators, at this very moment. Give me a lift as far as my gate, will you, Jervis? My car's dead till I can get someone out from Croyston."

Impossible to refuse of course. Nan wondered whether Jervis would have liked to refuse.

He said, "All right," with an air of complete indifference.

At any rate she wouldn't have to sit next to the man. F.F. would have that pleasure. F.F. wouldn't mind of course. It was only she who felt like an exploding bomb when Robert Leonard was anywhere about. She got in beside Jervis, and heard the other two settling themselves behind her. F.F. full of amiable chatter.

"Did you have a car in South America? I forget where you were. Were you ever in Mexico? Shocking roads, but not as bad as San Pedro. The Madalena roads are pretty hard to beat. I had an old flivver there. She was a wonder. She jumped the holes like a rabbit."

They moved off, slid down the drive, and coasted as far as Mr. Leonard's gate. He got out and made his farewells.

"You must come and see my place some day, Mrs. Jervis. Thanks for the lift, Jervis. Good-bye, Mr. Francis."

"Au revoir," said Ferdinand.

The afternoon was very hot. There was nothing surprising in the fact that Robert Leonard found it necessary to pass a handkerchief across his forehead. Ferdinand, looking back, admitted this, but could not understand why Leonard should have quite so shaky a hand.

Jervis wasn't thinking about Robert Leonard. He looked once at Nan, and was aware of distinct relief. She had not golden hair, sea-blue eyes, regular features, or a statuesque figure. He was feeling a strong distate for all these things.

Nan's firm round chin, her brown hair, her steady grey eyes, and the rather childish contour of her face were as complete a contrast as could be found to the charms of his cousin Rosamund. His gaze dwelt upon his wife with approval.

They began to descend the hill, and before they came to the steep est part he put the car into low gear. For a couple of hundred yards the gradient was about one in seven, and the surface bad. They had on their right a high bank out of which the road had been cut, and on the left a narrow strip of rough grass with an occasional scrawny bush, and beyond that a low parapet of loose stones which defended a sheer drop to the sea below.

Jervis had scarcely shifted down, when amongst his other thoughts there slid into his mind a conviction that there was something wrong with the car. The conviction became a certainty and took entire possession of him. The steering was bad; the wheel wobbled, and there was a drag to the left.

A drag to the left was a drag to the cliff. The wheel kicked in his hands. He wrenched it over and jammed on the brakes, and as he did so a number of things happened all at once. The left front wheel came off and went bounding down the hill, its scarlet and black catching the sun. The front axle came down with a heavy bump on the left.

The car swung round, slid, tilted, and fell over with a crash. Robert Leonard heard the sound of it as he walked up the path from the gate to his house. He stood still. Then he walked on again.

Of the three people in the car, two were taken entirely by surprise. Ferdinand had a moment of wondering why the road should be so much rougher going down than it had been coming up. Then he saw the black and scarlet wheel go bowling down the road like a child's hoop gone crazy. And then the car turned over and threw him clear.

Nan did not see the wheel or notice the jolting. She was looking over the steep edge of the cliff. She had never seen anything so blue in all her life. The tide was high, and the water came up to the foot of the cliff.

The first thing she knew of the accident was a violent jolt, and then the side of the car dropping away from her on her left. She gave a little cry and put out both her hands. Something struck her right shoulder. Then the car turned right over with a sound of smashing glass, and she was on her hands and knees on the rough grass with the leather seat pressing down upon her back.

Ferdinand picked himself up out of the dust of the road. He felt rather dazed. He wasn't sure whether he had been thrown clear or whether he had jumped, but he was in the middle of the road with the knees of his trousers torn and the car across the road, very neatly upside down, her bonnet hitched up on the stone parapet.

He couldn't see Jervis, and he couldn't see Nan. He felt grateful for the parapet, because if it hadn't been there, the car wouldn't have been there either, but at the bottom of the cliff like a smashed egg. He came out of his daze with a jerk and ran forward just as Nan crawled out from under the front seat. She pulled herself up by the wall and said.

"Where's Jervis?"

Ferdinand ran round to the other side of the car.

She said, "Where's Jervis?" again.

She couldn't run, because her legs didn't feel as if they belonged to her. She crawled round the car, holding on to it. It looked so odd upside down. The sides were smooth; her fingers slipped on the paint. She got round to the other side and saw Ferdinand dragging Jervis clear.

Jervis did not move or help himself at all. Then she saw his face. And when she saw his face, she forgot all about her legs not belonging to her, and she let go of the car and ran to him.

There was a most dreadful moment. Was he dead?

Everything stood still, her thoughts wouldn't move. She couldn't draw her breath, and a blackness like the shuddering darkness of a nightmare made a wall around her. It was like being buried alive; her mind switched crazily back to that incredible stage hypnotist she once had seen—to him and his bedraggled subject whom he "buried alive" in a dirty white robe.

She didn't know how long it lasted. At last Ferdinand's voice came through the blackness. He shook her arm.

"Nan! Nan!"

Ferdinand turned back to Jervis. He had dragged his inert body to the roadside, and now was bent over him, his hand to Jervis' heart.

Ferdinand did not answer; he signalled her to come, and when she had sat down with the wall at her back he lay Jervis' head in her lap and quickly scaled down the cliff to the sea. He came back with his hat full of cold salt water. Nan wet Ferdinand's handkerchief, and bathed his face. There was a smear of blood mixed with dust.

"Oh Jervis!" she cried.

His eyes flickered. He sighed, and was still.

Huang Erh-nan, a Peiping, China, artist, uses a technic in ink work that is probably unique among artists. He fills his mouth with ink and uses his tongue as a quill with which he sketches. He rolls his tongue between his lips to regulate the flow of ink from his mouth.

The artist also follows other unconventional methods in his art work. He paints with spoons instead of brushes, and signs his name with his middle finger dipped in ink. Huang is a graduate of a Japanese art school.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE FAIR TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 30

Plattekill, Sept. 23—One of the most interesting events in the year's program of the Grange will be celebrated on Friday evening, September 30, when the annual fair and community night will be observed.

Already the rural schools are making ready their exhibits for that evening in competition for cash awards. An award will be given also to each school making a creditable exhibit. Last year, with nine rural schools in the contest, competition was keen and it is expected the same interest and high standard of excellence will be evidenced this year.

In addition to the cash awards for prize-speaking contest winners, they will also be eligible for entrance to the County Contest to be held on October 27 at Highland where they will compete with representatives from other parts of the county. The contest has been divided into two classes, one a contest for pupils from 12-15 years and the other from 16-18 years. Contestants are to deliver original essays on one of the following topics:

1—The Bicentennial of Washington.
2—America's Great Men.
3—Temperance and Law Enforcement.
4—Inventions by Americans.
5—New Uses for Old Wastes.
6—The Country Church, Its Needs and Possibilities.
7—Farm Fire Protection.
8—The Grange, a Community Asset.
9—Rural Health.
10—This Electric Age.
11—The 4-H Club, Its Benefits.
12—Safety First.

Chief among the interesting events of the program will be a spelling contest in which a champion will be selected by elimination. Each school has been requested to send two entrants.

In connection with these events, other interesting numbers have been planned by Mrs. C. Ira Thompson, lecturer, in observance of Grange Booster Night which will be nationally celebrated on that evening.

Preceding the program guests will have opportunity to visit the various booths, such as the homemade candy in charge of Mrs. Burton Ward, chairman; the children's fish pond in charge of Miss Hazel Shaver, chairman; the utility booth, where useful and handy articles will be for sale by Mrs. B. Reynolds, chairman; the food table in charge of Mrs. E. L. Schoonmaker, where homemade cakes and rolls will be a specialty. Mrs. Dagmar Nelson, chairman of the refreshment table, will aim to satisfy the hungry and thirsty with hot franks, rolls, coffee, homemade pie and cake, ice cream, soft drinks, etc.

All Patrons are requested to bring their finest fruit, vegetables and flowers for exhibit. Awards of substantial prizes will be made to the two Patrons securing the largest numbers of first premiums in each class. Eugene Partridge will be chairman of fruit, C. Ira Thompson, chairman of vegetables, and Mrs. Charles Jenkins in charge of flowers. Prizes will also be awarded to the best products from children's gardens.

Following the program, baskets of fruit and vegetables will be sold at auction to the highest bidder.

COAL DISCOUNT ANNOUNCEMENT

The approach of cold weather brings the matter of heating the home into great importance. The household budget will soon be called upon to provide for an additional burden that was not present during the warm Summer months. How to arrange for this will be a problem of many families.

WE STAND READY TO HELP YOU KEEP YOUR HOME WARM THIS WINTER AND SAVE YOU 80 CENTS A TON ON YOUR FULL REQUIREMENTS PURCHASED FROM THIS TIME UNTIL NEXT APRIL.

Instead of filling your bins—which would necessitate the payment of a considerable amount within 30 days in order to earn the 80 cents a ton discount—we stand ready to spread deliveries over the Winter to permit you to take your coal in such amounts as you can conveniently pay for before the discount period expires.

Of course, this puts an added burden on us, for we will have to make more trips to your home, but we are willing to assume this expense as our contribution to help you meet the abnormal conditions now prevailing.

In order to make this plan possible, we are not able to grant credit beyond thirty days in any case; therefore, at the time you place your order, tell your coal dealer to deliver such an amount as you can conveniently pay for in 30 days.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Mesa, Ariz.—Bitten by a dog, Zedo Ishikawa is dead. The youthful Japanese saw two dogs fighting. To part them he pushed the butt of a rifle between them. One dog clawed the trigger, sending a bullet into Ishikawa's chest. Among the mourners are many football fans, for the lad was a high school halfback.

New York—The police got impatient with Mrs. Doris Carlton. Not that it was so bad, they say, to knock down a light pole, drive away furiously when a cop asked her to get out of her car and ask two other cops the way to Brooklyn bridge while driving the wrong way on a one-way street. But, they insisted, she really shouldn't have battled five husky policemen almost to a standstill when she finally was caught up with. She will have her court inning later.

Victoria, B. C.—The size of crabs is a serious subject up this way. Worried by a dollar a barrel increase in the wholesale price, Upisland beer parlor operators diminished the size of a ten-cent glass of beer. They got still more worried when customers, in a huff, diminished their purchases. There's going to be a conference about it.

Trento, Italy—None of your puny peaks for King Albert of the Belgians. When he picks a mountain to climb it's usually the highest in sight. He spent 10 hours working up to the top of precipitous Mount Crozzon, winning the admiration of guides.

Debrecen, Hungary — An Izaak Walton of crime found the fishing good even without bait. Using a rod, line and hook, a burglar extracted 6,000 shirts and 3,000 blankets from lofts and basements.

Cuxbridge, England—Amazement struck this Hampshire village when a big fish in the shallows of the local stream began to bark like a dog. Ten men pulled it out with a loop of wire and three shots killed it. They think it was some straggler from the ocean deeps.

War Witness Dies

Algiers, Algeria (AP)—Chikh ben Ahmed, the last surviving witness of the triumphal entry of the French troops into Algiers in 1830 has just died, aged 116, at the village of Reibel. When the city was captured he was working with his father as a donkey driver for a firm of builders.

Holland Adds to Quotas

The Hague (AP)—Quota restrictions for seven months on imports into Holland of stockings, socks, carpets, sewing threads and table linen are imposed by a new royal decree.

COW FAMILY MAKES HIGH RECORD MARK

Half-Sisters Lead Class in United States.

By E. J. BROWNELL, New York State College of Agriculture.—WNU Service.

Two New York State Holsteins, half-sisters, broke the state record that has stood for five years as junior four-year-olds on ten months' test and three daily milkings. The cows were bred by E. J. Chaffee of Wassaic and owned by James Stark of Pawling. Mr. Chaffee is vice president of the New York Holstein association.

Oblong Valley Kokee Sadie Rose, the youngest of the half-sisters by seven days, gave 20,397 pounds of milk containing 691.8 pounds of butterfat to displace the five years' champion, Class Colantha Blossom, owned by H. H. Longhouse of Canandaigua. This record placed the Stark cow third in the United States for the present year and fifth in the all-time list.

The half-sister, Oblong Valley Kokee Inka Ladoga, completed her record a few days later of 20,694 pounds of milk containing 691.8 pounds of fat. This record placed the elder of the two cows first in her class in the United States for the year and second for all-time class list with the highest such record reported within the past five years.

Mr. Stark's herd of 23 cows led the larger herds in New York dairy herd improvement associations for the past year with an average of 15,569 pounds of milk and 521 pounds of fat to the cow.

Herd's Earning Power Increased by Culling

One means of reducing the surplus milk and at the same time increase the earning power of the herd is illustrated by Leonard Sumney, explains Samuel Frazee, Allen county tester, in the Indiana Farmer's Guide. Three cows in the Sumney herd, representing 800 pounds of fat annually were sold to a butcher for almost sufficient cash to purchase one cow of known production. This animal returned 430 pounds of fat at a feed cost of $56.10 per year as compared to a feed cost of $121 for the three cows. This was a saving of $64.90 for feed with less labor and investment. The owner also disposed of 370 pounds of so-called surplus milk. An offspring from this one cow could easily be valued, when six months of age, at $15 more than one from each of the low-producing cows.

Inheritance Factors

Experiments aimed at fixing the inheritance factors in dual-purpose cattle are to be undertaken by the Minnesota agricultural experiment station at its Waseca branch. Dr. Andrew Boss, vice director of the Minnesota experiment station, and Supt. Robert E. Hodgson of Waseca, will carry on the work. They are now studying pedigrees of milking Shorthorns with a view to buying a number of high-producing females for a foundation herd.

More interest is being manifested by farmers in dual-purpose or milking Shorthorns now than ever before, says Doctor Boss. This has probably been accentuated, he says, by the recent high beef prices and the present low prices for dairy products. While it is known that many individual animals of the dual purpose type have the capacity to produce both beef and milk efficiently, one of the big drawbacks is that such cattle cannot be depended upon to transmit these qualities to their offspring. The present series of experiments will be designed to correct this deficiency.

Guarding Against Bloating

Losses through turning the dairy herd on legume pastures have already been reported. These losses may be largely eliminated if a little forethought is exercised. A nearby dairyman who has pastured his cows largely on alfalfa for the past 30 years, has yet to lose the first cow by bloat. He never turns them to pasture when the clover is wet with dew or rain. For the first week or so the cows are on pasture only a few hours daily, and are always turned on after they have had a full feed of hay and are not hungry. After a few days of this treatment the cows are left on the pasture except at milking time. If it should happen at any time during the season that the cows are on permanent pasture for a few days or weeks, and are then turned back to clover pasture, they are again filled with dry feed before being allowed on the clover, and the clover must be dry.

DAIRY HINTS

• • •

The seventh annual dairy industries exposition will be held in Detroit, Mich., October 17 to 22.

• • •

Herds in testing associations for six years show three times as much increase in butterfat content of the milk as those that tested for only three years.

Dairy Improvement Association Report

The following is a complete summary of the Ulster County Dairy Improvement Association prepared by the Farm Bureau. To be placed on the honor roll of the association a cow must produce 1,200 pounds of milk or 40 pounds of butterfat in one month. In October the annual summary for both associations will be published.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Jewel Robbery." William Powell and Kay Francis together again, this time in a sophisticated tale of a clever jewel thief who is as good a lover as a crook. This show has a number of intense dramatic moments, and some fine dialogue.

Orpheum: "Tom Brown of Culver" and "The Third Alarm." Tom Brown, Slim Summerville, Richard Cromwell and H. B. Warner are the featured players in this story of the making of men at one of the country's largest military schools. It is good, clean entertainment from start to finish, with numerous thrills and comedy. "Third Alarm" is another tribute to the firemen, with James Hall, Anita Louise, Hobart Bosworth and Jean Hersholt in the cast.

Broadway: "Doctor X". Technicolor adds to the effectiveness of this mystery thriller, and this show is so well acted and the plot is so creepy that everybody will find enough thrills to satisfy them before the show is ended. It's the story of a certain doctor who spends his time seeking to uncover among his friends and students a certain strangler who has been murdering people. Lionel Atwill is splendid as Doctor X, and Lee Tracy, Fay Wray and Robert Warwick all help make this a thriller.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: "Miss Pinkerton." Joan Blondell is cast in a new type of role in this mystery talkies, and she proves to be more charming and capable than ever as a nurse looking for some excitement to break the monotony of her existence. She finds it when she gets a position in the home of an old lady who is suffering from hysterics because she has just seen her nephew murdered. From the time of her arrival in this house of tragedy Miss Blondell as the nurse finds excitement and thrills in large numbers. Swell melodrama, worth seeing. George Brent is also in the cast.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost.

One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly relieve distressing catarrhal head noises, clogged nostrils, difficult breathing and dropping mucous, and improve hearing. All victims of catarrhal deafness or head noises should give Parmint a trial.

MEXICO FEARS PLAN TO ALLOW EXILES' RETURN

Mexico City (AP)—A general amnesty bill, permitting all political exiles to return to Mexico, has been proposed by the minority anti-re-electionist party in congress.

It has aroused denunciatory comment among government party lawmakers who predict its defeat if it ever gets beyond the debate stage.

Is Sweeping Measure

The bill would drop the bars for both military and civilian political refugees and clear off all charges pending against them. It would affect a number of former Mexican leaders in Los Angeles, San Antonio, El Paso, Phoenix and other cities in the southwestern states.

A few of these exiles are living off the spoils of their attempts to overthrow the government. But most of the former generals, governors and lesser officials who unsuccessfully challenged the federal authority, are working for a living, or looking for jobs.

The anti-re-electionists have sought passage of an amnesty law for half a dozen years. They regard its chances as slightly improved now because the new president, General Abelardo L. Rodriguez, has declared himself without rancor against former rebels.

But the president has stated further that while he agrees in principle with political amnesty, he thinks each case should be passed upon individually.

See Strength in Mercy

"All of the exiles are Mexicans," the minority party argues. "This is their country and we should not force them to live abroad. Clemency could not be regarded as indicating weakness in the government nor as a breaking down of revolutionary idealism. Rather it would be looked upon as a generous gesture and a patriotic act.

"We therefore call upon the government to forget passion and exhibit true democracy by offering the hand of friendship to all."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their beautiful flowers, kindness, sympathy, in our recent bereavement.

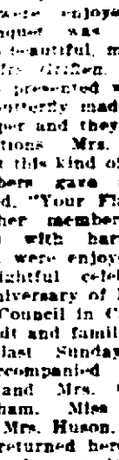
What Is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?



Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Fabric and Color Interest Give New Life to the Suit

In the 1932 Spirit

New York—A universal fashion opinion of a type best suit for early fall is taken into consideration by makers who feel that women will appreciate a wool material in suits which by the very nature of their cut are devoid of bulk. Both weave and color effects enter into these new fabrics, the spirit of which are often of that around type and the jacket is still longer or even definitely so this season.

While there are suits and fashionable [illegible] tailor, although [illegible] formal suits never [illegible]. The wool tailleur is one of the ready all-year-'round fashions the French term a "classic," but even it is to vary as do the blouses and accessories worn with them.

This season one is expected to be muffled up to one's chin, literally, either in wool or fur. If the suit is to be a one as is the one sketched, a fur collar may be to your liking. Flat furs are used as fabrics are used, and so may be found in any number of waistcoat effects to complete the ensemble, the coat of which is worn open.

The suit sketched bears a London label, it being conceded that London knows an important thing or two about tailored suits. One finds them usually completed by some sort of knitted jumper of sweater-blouse or by a jersey one.

The wool shirtwaist dress arrived with the first touch of autumn. It is a prime favorite with the young things who remain loyal to simple sports things in the very teeth of a back to elegance movement. Jersey is presented in many novel weaves. Corduroys and velveteens offer attractive alternatives if one is weary of wool. It seems hardly possible that one would be tired of it, since there are such glamorous colors and such fascinating weaves and so many new times and places to wear wool—in the ballroom for instance.

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

The sports suit shows the practical type highlighted in London suit collections. A heavy knitted fabric in broken green, black, and orange check makes the jacket and skirt. The sweater blouse and muffler are of pale green lace stitch woolen.

It's Smart To Be "Concave"

New York—Hips, so long the chief concern of women his season have had to delinquish their place to the diaphragm. First it was the "flat" diaphragm, now it is the "concave" diaphragm that must be guaranteed in right-fitting foundations. The bust molded in a pronounced line, and with the pointed effect intimated, this fulness in the bust must be contrasted by an opposing slimness of the diaphragm to carry out the youthful impression that the high bust suggests.

When Evening Comes

The three-quarter cape above at the left is made in shirred black velvet with shawl collar in white, similarly shirred.

The wine-colored finger-tip length coat above introduces shirring in the shoulder crests, while the sleeves are puffed just above the slim wrist section.

The waistlength dolman silhouette below gains interest through its fabric—white crushed velvet, the material also making the shoulder flower. This model is also interpreted in metal cloth.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Coat-dresses, in cloth and crepe, have widely wrapped skirts. Adjustable waistlines are accented.

Tunic dresses, also two-piece types with shorter jumpers are worn.

BLUE EVENING CLOTHES DISPLACE BLACK AT NICE

Nice, France (AP)—The black evening clothes tradition for men has been broken at several casino galas on the Riviera.

The smart dressers have been wearing dinner jackets and trousers of light summer materials. Navy blue and dark royal blue have proved the most popular colors, as they look best under artificial light, but some white evening clothes have been seen.

Worst Winter Faces German Poverty Relief

Berlin (AP).—German government and organized charitable relief agencies face prospects that the coming cold months will be the fatherland's worst post-war winter.

With an indicated 7,500,000 unemployed among its 62,000,000 inhabitants, the stress will test truly Germany's ability to care for its idle.

Despite the best efforts of the government, the number of jobless was higher this summer than ever before for that season. The army of unemployed being augmented rapidly as farms, building companies and other seasonal industries release their laborers.

Uncounted Host Is Idle

The government registry already shows one out of every five able-bodied men and women out of work. How many of the thousands upon thousands who are not eligible for government aid are also idle is not known.

In the six years since 1926 the number of registered unemployed has risen from 2,444,000 to 5,694,400. The ratio of growth has been especially striking in the big cities, particularly here in the capital. The Berlin idle in 1929, for example, numbered 47.1 per thousand of population. The index jumped to 80 the following year. Today it is 110.7.

The one glimmer of hope is the preliminary success of the government scheme for voluntary enlistment in labor companies employed on public works. Since the first of August 95,000 persons have joined up and the total is expected to be around 200,000 by spring.

In this service the workers receive their sustenance, working clothes and daily wages of from 30 to 50 cents. Some sickness and accident insurance is also carried for them. They enlist for 20 weeks but a man can obtain a release if he gets a real job.

Whole Nation Charitable

But the financial burden of caring for the destitute is bound to be huge. Last winter the Welfare League alone disbursed $24,750,000 in cash and foodstuffs. Other organized charities spent an estimated $10,000,000 and $3,750,000 were added to the total by reduced prices for coal to the poor.

These figures, moreover, take no account of the enormous sums spent by governmental agencies or by private philanthropists who left no record of their gifts. One of the exceptions to this latter rule was Max Schmeling, ex-heavyweight champion, but his charity serves to illustrate the size of some of the private effort. Max paid for 1,200 warm meals served daily for months to poor school children.

The whole country helped and contributions were divided about evenly between the urban and rural areas. The cities gave most money; the country contributed food

NEW SILENCER MUFFLES NOISE OF GREAT GUNS

Naples, Italy, (AP).—A device which greatly reduced sound and smoke in the discharge of artillery has been invented by two young Italian engineers and offered to the government.

It can be attached to the muzzle of any field gun and in trials before war department officials it declared that the sound of the discharge carried only a few hundred yards. Only a slight puff of smoke arose, quickly disappearing.

German Autos Burn Alky.

Berlin, (AP).—The government has decreed that German motorists must burn 10 per cent of alcohol with their gasoline instead of 6 per cent, the ratio previously in force. The change was made at the behest of the alcohol monopoly which suffered loss in revenue by diminution of demand for hard liquor.

Chanel designs this geranium-red velvet evening frock which buttons up the back. Velvet petals outline the back decollete. The gloves are also of velvet.

Fabrics that glitter and stand out for their richness fashion this winter's evening costumes. Lacquered black satin makes this shimmering frock designed by Maggy Rouff. The white water lily which finishes the decollete, and the fulness at the front of the skirt are the outstanding points in its design.

MORAN STUDENTS HEARD ADDRESS BY INGERSOLL

A special assembly of the Moran Business School, Former Pair and Main streets was called on Wednesday to listen to an address on the subject of Taxation delivered by Charles H. Ingersoll, vice-president of the Ingersoll watch and vice president of the Manhattan Single Tax Club of New York city.

Mr. Ingersoll believes that the depressing state of the tax system and that the correction of errors on this subject would restore the balance of social and economic conditions. In the course of his address he advocated the removal of taxes from business and industry, distributing them on the basis of land value. He said that land should be assessed regardless of improvements and raised to bear the entire cost of government. He expressed the belief that the fall in business is directly caused by the tax burden which, as he described it, is tied to the legs of industry instead of being properly balanced on its back.

Italy Trains Shepherds

Trapani, Italy, (AP). A school for shepherds has been opened at Maiga Inferiore, a point near here 6,000 feet above sea level. It is the first of its kind in Italy and is financed by the government as part of a general plan to modernize agricultural and sheep-raising methods.

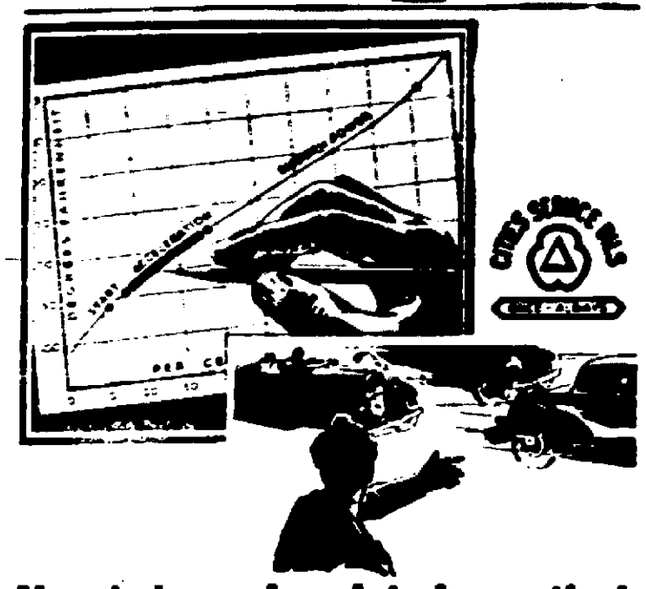
"IF IT'S CITIES SERVICE . . . IT HAS TO BE GOOD"



Here's how chemists know that a gasolene gives quick pick-up

Getting away fast—sprinting when you want to sprint—getting out of the pinches when you need to—that's pick-up—and the chart above tells the chemist if the gasolene will give it.

This gasolene will. The chart shows the result of boiling gasolene, and noting the percentage which evaporated at certain temperatures. Horizontal lines indicate temperatures; vertical lines, percentages. In this case the shape and position of the curve tell the chemist that the gas will respond quickly at the throttle; that in the climatic conditions under which this gasolene is to be used, it is neither over-balanced with light, quick-burning, lower-powered elements, nor top-heavy with the more powerful but more sluggish "heavy ends."

Making such tests daily, the group of expert chemists who check every run from Cities Service refineries, see that these fuels have pick-up, power, speed and quick-starting in the best possible balance for all-round performance under the climatic conditions of the section where they will be sold. They can, and do, reject any gasolene which does not come up to this standard. That is why we can justly make the claim—"If it's Cities Service, it has to be good."

Cities Service—one of America's ten largest industrial organizations—broadcasts Fridays, 8 P.M. (E.D.T.), over WEAF and 32 N.B.C. stations.

Catskill Mt. Girls View and Describe Gotham's Wonders

First Trip to the Metropolis and the Impressions Made Described by One of the Pilgrims From the Mountains—From the Battery to the Park, and Points Between.

West Shokan Sept 22—The first trip to New York city always remains in one's mind as one of the most outstanding adventures of a lifetime. In former days newly-weds, who had always lived in the country usually made a trip to New York on their honeymoon. But a visit to the metropolis was considerably different 25 years ago than it is at the present day, with all the sky-scrapers and elaborately equipped buildings. In spite of the improved methods of transportation it is quite surprising to note the various local residents who have never been to the big city.

Now that nearly all of the city people have returned, many country folks are really wondering just what city life is like and how it compares with country life in God's beautiful, wide, open countryside.

On Saturday Miss Lydia Scott of Shokan, accompanied by Miss Miriam C. Davis of West Shokan Heights, returned to the mountains after spending a two days' visit in New York city. It was Miss Davis's first trip to the metropolis, and it was an experience long to be remembered.

The trip was made on Thursday by the West Shore from Kingston. Although the atmosphere was quite hazy, a beautiful view of the Hudson and the Catskill Mountains was beheld. The Poughkeepsie Bridge and the Bear Mountain Bridge attracted quite a bit of attention. Along the river there were large patches of cat-tails, while farther out were the fishing yachts, tug boats and house boats. A large number of German and American liners were anchored in New York harbor.

There are many places of interest to be visited in New York city. The Empire State Building towers skyward 102 stories and is the best place for getting a birdseye view of the city. The people walking on the sidewalks below look like pin heads, while the autos and trains are slightly larger, but apparently move at a more rapid pace. Way up there at the top of the world there is a large bird cage, filled with various kinds of gayly colored birds. Post cards and other souvenirs may be purchased and mailed there, dropping to the main floor at the entrance of the building. Among the bridges that can be seen are Brooklyn, Manhattan, Williamsburg, Queens Borough, Hell Gate and George Washington.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, situated at 5th avenue and 82nd street, is one of the most interesting buildings, where hours pass rapidly. The various periods of historic art are well represented there. The Babylonian, Assyrian, Syrian and Egyptian collections are especially interesting and instructive. There are large stone blocks of the ancient hieroglyphics or picture writing. On the walls hang strips of papyrus, a weed which grows along the Nile river and was used for paper making. Students who have a knowledge of ancient history particularly enjoy seeing a real massive stone sarcophagus, in which was once buried the Egyptian kings and queens. The mummies were wrapped in mummy cloth and placed in those huge caskets. With them were placed jewelry, pottery, scarabs, particular charms, weapons and food, which prove that the Egyptians had a belief in the future life.

The Egyptian jewelry which is exhibited is of particular beauty. The necklaces, bracelets and rings are famous for their fine jewel settings and hand engraving. King Tut's signet ring is among the collection of fine jewelry. There is also a hand carved wooden boat with people in, carrying a mummy across the River Styx.

The Greek and Roman collections give a fine idea of ancient architecture. There are models and parts in relief of the Acropolis from Athens. The Porch of the Maidens from the Erectheum, the Roman Forum and the Temple of Jews are also famous with their Doric, Ionic and Corinthian pillars. There is a Roman chariot on exhibit, which once might have been used in one of the famous races about the Roman Forum. The elaborate armor, guns, swords, spears and shields of the Roman equestrian and cavalry throw light upon the ancient war implements.

In the French, German, Italian and English collections there are various religious figures, paintings, wood carving and tapestry.

In the American section there are many statuettes by various sculptors, a bronze bust of Abraham Lincoln, and a Washington exhibition.

The American Museum of Natural History is another place where much time can be spent to considerable advantage. There are collections of all kinds of trees. There is a stump of a tree which started to grow 550 A. D. and was cut down in 1891. There is also a huge John Sherman California redwood tree. The Theodore Roosevelt Memorial is being erected in one of the wings of this building. In the Indian collection there are tomahawks, dried skins, arrowheads, spears, pots and kettles, Indian forms and large wooden canoes, carrying warriors and chieftains to war. There is a large variety of birds and animals, many of which are familiar to this section. There is also an exhibition of eugenics, showing the skeletons of mammals and the development of man and apes. Near the outside entrance of the museum are large boulders with glacial grooves.

The Aquarium, located at the battery, was formerly called Castle Gardens, where Jennie Lind, the Swedish Nightingale, used to sing. She once visited Kingston and stayed overnight at the Senate House. One couldn't begin to enumerate the various kinds of fish which are found in this aquarium. There are also seals, penguins, turtles, pelicans, crocodiles, horseshoe crabs, lobsters, alligators, and stuffed fish.

St. Luke's Hospital has an ideal location and ranks among the best hospitals in New York. Included in the Out Patient Department are the clinics and operating rooms. There are medical, surgical and children's wards there. In one part of the building there is a very attractive little chapel, where service is held each evening, which the probationers are required to attend. Miss Scott was a former supervisor and instructress in St. Luke's Hospital. At the Medical Center are located the Baby's Hospital, Presbyterian and Sloans, the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and the Neurological Institute. Among the other prominent hospitals are Fifth Avenue, Mt. Sinai, Heckersher Foundation, Lennox Hill, Roosevelt, Foundling, and the Deaf and Dumb Institution.

Of course, this article contains only the names of a few of the interesting places in New York city, but it will give the reader a vague idea of what can be seen in about two days by train, subway, trolley, bus and elevator. On Wednesday morning Vincent Astor's yacht arrived at New York with a variety of rare fish, lobsters and sea porcupines which will be added to the Aquarium. People visiting New York, who are interested in fish, will soon have the opportunity of viewing the Astor collection.

In spite of all New York's glory and world-wide fame it surely seemed good to return to the Catskill mountains after the two days' sightseeing trip. What could be more attractive and beautiful than the country at this time, with the cool, crisp air, the corn stalks standing in shocks, the fruit trees laden, the waning moon, and the peaceful mountains which are now putting on their autumn attire.

DEVIL'S ADVOCATE SLOWS SAINTHOOD FOR DON BOSCO.

Vatican City, (AP).—The process for the canonization of the Blessed Don Bosco, founder of the Salesian order which has scores of chapters in South America and some in the United States, has suddenly met with difficulties.

These are due to the fact that the "devil's advocate" has thrown doubt on the authenticity of one of the miracles supposed to have been worked through intercession of the Torinese monk who was beatified three years ago.

The "devil's advocate" (this is his true title) is an ecclesiastic whose duty it is to attack the proofs advanced by the persons who support a beatification or canonization.

The Congregation of Rites still has the case under consideration, however, and may yet approve the miracle in question if its proponents advance additional proofs.

In any case, the congregation will have to meet two more times, even if it votes favorably now. At the final meeting the pope himself will preside.

AUSTRALIA CONSIDERS CUTTING JURIES TO NINE

Melbourne, (AP).—Jury panels, instead of consisting of "twelve good men and true" may be reduced to 9 in Victoria.

The minister for justice says such a reduction would result in a saving to government at a time when every economy must be practiced.

"Nine men would be as just as twelve," he declares. "There is no mystery about the figure twelve."

Forsts Win Second Half Honors Of City League

The Forst Butchers copped the championship of the second half of the City Baseball League by virtue of a 9 to 3 shellacking they handed the Taiclet Boxmen at the Athletic Field Thursday evening. The victory marked the fifth straight one for the Butchers without a defeat in the second half. By winning the Butchers gained the right to meet the Knights of Columbus, winners of the first half, in a three-game series, which starts at the Athletic Field Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

"Wee" Willie Schwab saved the Boxmen the humiliation of being whitewashed, which would have been the second in three days, by fashioning a home run with two aboard in the last inning. It has to be a terrific clout for Schwab to make a homer as he has slowed up considerably in his senility. Charlie Tiano almost produced another circuit hit in the third. He just missed by inches when he tried to stretch a triple, being nipped at the plate in a close play.

One inning—the first—proved sufficient for the Butchers to win. In this inning they pounced on Nick Huber, starting pitcher for the Boxmen, and laced out seven hits and eight runs. These runs gave Dewey Van Buren, Butchers' hurler, easy sailing. He retired in the last inning after hold the Boxmen scoreless and Jack Robins replaced him. Robins was the victim of Schwab's timely blow.

Phil Peters relieved Huber in the second frame and held the Butchers in check. He yielded but two hits and was scored on once.

Tommy Davitt, lead-off man of the Butchers, distinguished himself by poling two safeties in the first inning. He opened the game with a single to center field and Glaser followed with one to left field. Robins worked Huber for a walk and the bases were loaded before the Boxmen knew what it was all about.

The Boxmen halted the rally for a moment when they forced Davitt at home, but Tiano singled to center field and Glaser scored. With the sacks still loaded Merritt laced a long double to left field and Robins, Dawkins and Tiano registered. Tierney followed with a single to center field and Merritt scored when Tomaseski dropped Stumpf's return of the ball. Tierney scored on a double by Van Buren and Davitt drove home Van Buren with his second single. Davitt stole second and brought home the last run of the rally on Cragan's error of Glaser's grounder.

The Boxmen's three runs came in the last inning. Schwab inserted his long hit at this time, after Tomaseski and Carr had singled.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Most of the excitement to be gleaned from the closing days of the major league pennant races is wrapped up in the final three game series between the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics starting today in Washington.

Second place in the American League, with its attendant "cut" of the World Series money, is at stake, with the Senators needing to sweep the series to win runner-up honors. A single victory would clinch the spot for the A's.

Then there is Jimmie Foxx, mauling first baseman of the Mackmen, and his assault on a couple of home run records, including that of the mighty George Herman (Babe) Ruth. Foxx cracked his 55th and 56th of the season yesterday as the Athletics dropped a 10-inning struggle to the champion Yankees, 8 to 7.

The total of 56 homers ties the record for right hand hitters, set by Hack Wilson with the Chicago Cubs in 1930. Another homer for the Maryland Mauler would break Wilson's mark, and four more would tie Ruth's great string of 60, set in '27.

The Senators remained in the scrap for second place by beating the Boston Red Sox again, 4 to 2. General Alvin Crowder yielded but four hits to score his 14th straight triumph and his 25th of the year. He and Lefty Grove of the A's top the American League, each with 25 wins, another private argument that may be settled in the series starting today.

A doubleheader between Detroit and the Chicago White Sox was rained out.

Over in the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates continued to pour it on the champion Cubs, who are in no mood to be bothered by such trifles. Hal Smith, a youngster purchased from Kansas City, set the champs down with six hits and blanked them, 7 to 0.

Brooklyn tightened its hold on third place by taking its final from the Giants, 7 to 2. The St. Louis Cardinals beat Cincinnati, 8 to 5.

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Jimmie Foxx, Athletics—Drove in five runs against Yankees with 55th and 56th homers and single.

Hal Smith, Pirates—Made major league debut by blanking Cubs with six hits.

George Puccinelli and Charley Wilson, Cardinals—Their homers helped down Reds.

Joe Stripp, Dodgers—Led attack on Giant pitching with triple and two singles.

Alvin Crowder, Senators—Won 25th game of season and 14th in row, holding Red Sox to four hits.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 23 (AP).—Ralph Wilson of Philadelphia and Frank Speers of Atlanta wrestled to a draw here last night when both men fell out of the ring and were counted out before either could return.

Harold Castonwine of Iowa won two out of three from Earl McCready of Oklahoma in the feature bout.

Yale Backfield Looks Promising

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23 (AP).—Albie Booth, the greatest little football "pinch hitter" Yale ever had, has hung up his uniform after three spectacular years, but the hopes of old Eli for a successful 1932 campaign are not as low as might be expected.

The mighty atom will be missed. No doubt of that. His brilliant runs in the "pinches," his ability to get off a booming punt when it meant most, or to plunk a drop-kick between the bars when victory or defeat hung on his toe, have been almost the life and breath of Yale football for three seasons.

Another Star

But, even so, Coach Mal Stevens is unworried about his backfield. In Bob Lassiter, a rangy junior from Charlotte, N. C., he believes he has a star potentially as great as Booth.

Thirty-five pounds heavier than Booth, the southern boy proved late last season he could rip an opposing line and skirt the ends with any of them. He was a terror in the Princeton game, running for long gains almost every time he touched the ball.

With Lassiter in the potential first-string backfield are Dud Parker at quarterback, Walter Levering at the blocking halfback post, and Joe Crowley at fullback.

Problem in Line.

If Stevens had nothing more than his backfield to worry about he might be ready to predict a string of victories as long as his arm. Unfortunately there must be a forward line to open holes for the ball carriers and there lies the problem.

Graduation took the entire right side of the line, Eddie Rotan, Cap Hall and Hertie Barres, one of the country's greatest ends last season. It will be a big task to replace them.

"Those three players, both on offense and defense, were big factors in Yale's success last year," said Stevens. "We have plenty of candidates for their places but whether they can fill the vacancies remains to be seen."

While only seven games are on Yale's schedule, six are against major foes. After opening against Bates Oct. 1, the Elis must face Chicago Oct. 8; Brown, Oct. 15; Army, Oct. 22; Dartmouth, Oct. 29; Princeton, Nov. 12, and Harvard, Nov. 19.

All Stars Play At Saugerties Sunday

The Kingston All Stars will play their third game of a series with the Bushwicks of Saugerties at that place Sunday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock. It is expected that the contest to take place at the Athletic Field, home grounds of the villagers, will draw a record number of spectators.

So far the All Stars have won two games in the series, both of which were corking good matches. Score of the first one, which lasted 10 innings, was 2-1 in favor of the team piloted by John McCardle and Johnny Ashdown, and the second battle lasted 12 innings, ending 9-6.

Joie Hoffman starred in the first game by clouting a two-bagger in the tenth, sending home Tommy Davitt with the winning run.

Charlie Lay did the featuring in the second tilt by doubling with three men on the sacks, bringing them all home to break up a 6-6 tie.

Opposing batteries Sunday will be Dewey Van Buren or Jimmy Voelker, pitching, and Joe Hoffman, catching for the All Stars; Ted Fraleigh, pitching, and Benjamin catching for Saugerties.

Without Appeal

Recent studies of lightning show that it not only strikes directly, but may rebound. And the rule is that whether you catch it on the fly or on the first bounce, you're out.—Exchange.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Nothing has helped bestir greater interest in American golf than the sensational rise of the youthful brigade since the retirement of Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

So long as the great Georgian was dominating the big championship tournaments, younger players entered with a distinct feeling of inferiority. The mere sight of Jones gave them a thrill.

If the youngsters had the fortune to meet Jones in medal or match competition, they were awed, except for an individual of rare competitive spirit such as Nebraska's Johnny Goodman or San Francisco's Lawson Little, who at Pebble Beach in 1929 remarked it was "lucky for Jones he was put out in the first round" and thereby prevented from meeting him (Little).

For the most part, however, the absence of Jones has stimulated the youthful competitors to go out and shoot the works with the conviction, now well demonstrated, that anything can and probably will happen.

The qualifying play at Five Farms in this year's amateur championship brought to the front a dozen new personalities in the American ranks.

Cup Stars Passed

The Walker cup matches had shown what youngsters like Moreland, Seaver, Howell, Dunlap and McCarthy can do. While some of these players were having trouble at Five Farms, another battalion moved into the lines, headed by 20-year-old Johnny Fischer, the intercollegiate champion, 19-year-old Wilfred Crossley of Harvard, 19-year-old Charley Yates of Georgia Tech and others, including the surprising Philadelphian banker, Perry Hall.

It all demonstrated what the British have now conceded—that there are more and better equipped golfers per square mile in the United States now than anywhere else in the world. Competition everywhere has improved the standard of play, whether it's in Texas, Georgia, Mississippi, Nebraska, California or the old New England stamping grounds of the ancient game.

The south, not content with sending Jones out to conquer the world, has now come along to produce star youngsters such as Howell, Harper, Gene Vinson, Yates, Emmett Spicer and Ed McClure.

The Atlanta delegation at Five Farms holds the belief that Yates, a product of Jones' home club, East Lake, will be a sensation before he is through. Under the tutoring of the veteran George Sargent, this youngster has shown astonishing improvement within the last year.

Hall In Spotlight

Perry Hall was as remarkable a figure as the Battle of Five Farms pushed into the spotlight. A partner in the banking house of J. P. Morgan, tennis star of considerable repute and a competitive golfer only because his friends urged him on, Hall took his first national tournament by storm.

He came within three strokes of tying the qualifying record of Bobby Jones in his first championship appearance, at the age of 37 and after only two years of serious golfing.

Chazenoff And Rose Battle To Tie Game

Youthful Tennis Star Springs Big Surprise in Match With Defending Champion—Deciding Match Today

Willie Chazenoff, youthful tennis star of Kingston, almost became the sensation of the city tennis championships Thursday night when he led the veteran defending champion, Randall Rose, by one set and finally lost out in the second set to Rose by the bitterly contested score of 10-8. Chazenoff won the first set 9-7 with a display of tennis that had the champion on the defensive, and his brilliant driving game sent constant winners to all parts of his opponent's court. Rose, who expected to have an easy time of it against his less experienced opponent, found himself hard pressed from the first game, and after losing the first set, the champion was forced to give everything he had in order to pull out the second set and save himself from a beating. The second set, which ended in darkness, forced the final and deciding set of this match to be carried over until today. Regardless of the outcome of this match, the remarkable showing of young Chazenoff places him among the ranking players of Kingston.

Bob Herzog, runner-up last year for the title, had an easier time of it than Rose, when he defeated John Olivet, seeded number four, by 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 scores. Although this match went three sets, Herzog was never in danger except during the first game of the third set when Olivet gave everything he had in an effort to break through Herzog's service. Although Olivet held the advantage in this game several times, Herzog managed to pull through, and Olivet suffered a decided let down following this game, and never got going again during the remainder of the set. Herzog's win places him in the final bracket of the lower half, and he will play either Chazenoff, Rose or Strong for the city championship on Saturday.

Ed Strong, seeded number three in the draw, played two matches yesterday without the loss of a set, and although his game was spotty at times, he was superior enough in his play to rout his opponents without difficulty. In his first match, Strong disposed of Don Turner in straight sets, giving his opponent but four games to win at 6-2, 6-2. Turner, whose game is erratic, couldn't find the lines yesterday, and he beat himself on his many errors.

In his quarter final match, Strong played Charles Lupton, of Middletown, and he won this match, 6-2, 6-3. Lupton, who has been playing fine tennis in this tourney, was badly off form in his encounter with Strong, and he went down to defeat without giving the Kingston ace much opposition.

This year's tournament, although smaller than anticipated, brought out several new local players whose games have improved to a great extent over last year. Among these players are Chazenoff, Krom, Hilterbrant, Kelleher, and Turner.

Status of the Gibbon

A gibbon is any of several apes constituting the genus Hylobates. They are the lowest of the anthropoid apes and the smallest and most perfectly arboreal in habits of that group. Their arms are very long and they have distinct ischial callosities, but no tail or cheek pouches. They are found in southeastern Asia and the East Indies. A number of species or varieties are known as the siamang, wou-wou and hoolock.

Not an Army Term

The term "sharpshooter" is not used in the army. Experts in army, navy or marine small arms use are designated as marksmen. The term originated during the Civil war when the Sharpe breech-loading rifle with improved sights came into use, and was the arm favored by men detailed to sniping.—Indianapolis News.

Cub Infielders Hold Edge Except In Batting

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—The infielders of the Chicago Cubs hold the edge over their Yankee rivals in most everything except the potent art of slugging baseballs out of the park.

Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Joe Sewell, a newcomer to this feature of the business, all pack the kind of a batting punch that breaks up the old ball game.

Man for man, however, the Cub combination can point to more robust-looking batting marks for the 1932 season. The Bruin infielders, besides, can claim the distinction of being younger than their rivals, faster on the bases and quicker at the vital task of pulling double plays.

Closely Matched

Apart from the color added to the world series by the comebacks of Tony Lazzeri and Mark Anthony Koenig, one-time "Keystone Kids" of the Yankees now turning up as rivals, the two infields are closely matched in all-around ability.

Both Lazzeri and Koenig are expected to start the series, although they have been out of commission recently, the former at second base for the Yankees and the latter at shortstop for the Cubs. Bill Jurges is ready to step in if Koenig cannot go the series route. Otherwise the only question in either lineup is whether Frank Crosetti, the slender Yankee recruit, will hold down the shortstop post or yield to Lyn Lary or Dr. Eddie Farrell. Crosetti likely will start.

Whatever Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs lacks in clouting ability by comparison with Larruping Lou Gehrig, the Yankee "iron man" first baseman, he makes up for in general steadiness. Grimm is a "money player", besides being a fine leader and banjo strummer. He has the artist's touch at first base. He was one of the few Cubs to play exceptional ball against the Athletics in the 1929 world series, batting close to .400.

Lazzeri a Vital Cog

Lazzeri's border hitting ability and longer experience, providing he is in shape, gives him a distinct shade over Billy Herman, the 23-year-old Cub keystone star. Tony is as vital a cog as Ruth in the Yankee machinery. He has the faculty of pulling the club together at shaky moments. Herman, however, has proved he can stand the gaff in a tough pennant scrap. Billy the kid leads off for the Cubs at bat and has a season's mark of around .310 for the full schedule.

Koenig's return from the minors was simultaneous with Chicago's pennant rush. Grimm was instrumental in getting him and credits the former Yankee with a big part in the team's winning drive. Because of his hitting and experience Mark has the edge on any one of the three Yankee shortstop possibilities.

Elwood English is a better hitter than his average of around .275 for the season indicates. He is nine years younger and considerably faster than Joe Sewell, the veteran Yankee third sacker, but no steadier in the field nor as consistent at bat. Sewell is one of the toughest men in the game to baffle at the plate. It's real baseball when Alabama Joe strikes out.

The Cubs have 22-year-old Stanley Hack, as well as Jurges, for utility work around the infield premises.

Legion Card Features Title and Grudge Matches

A record crowd is expected at the American Legion boxing bouts Monday night, (1) because Manchmaker Studer has arranged what looks like a very promising card and (2) because the Mickey Walker-Max Baer fight, scheduled for the same night, will not be broadcast over the radio.

When Studer was listing the bouts for the coming card, a number of impresaires, including Commander Ben N. Mann of the local post, advised that holding the outdoor scraps here Monday might be poor policy on account of the big fight being scheduled for the same day; but Doc waved the suggestion aside, saying he thought his fight night and even the Madison Square Garden Corporation could not interfere.

"Furthermore," said the Doc, "when the local fans see my card, they'll forget all about the Walker-Baer mixup. Very few from Kingston are going to the thing anyhow, according to what I hear, and will you tell me who would sit by a radio, if they even broadcast the thing, to hear a scrap when he can see at the clinches we are charging, a card of bouts that I wager will give as much action as the one in the Long Island Bowl, the feature included."

So with the news that there will be no broadcast of the brawl between the heavyweights of Joe Jacobs and Jack Kearns, the prime factor in keeping some away from the Legion scraps is eliminated and a full house is looked forward to for Monday night.

Championship Match

Leading off the American Legion card is the match between Jackie Feldman of Schenectady and Eddie Saxton, Brooklyn negro, who met here two weeks ago in a bout that was packed with action and which was awarded to Sexton. With the decision went the middleweight title of the Amateur Federation of Sports Clubs which belonged to Feldman before Timekeeper George N. Brown sounded the opening gong to start the classic duel for the crown.

Eddie earned the decision without doubt, taking the lead at the outset and piling up his advantage as the battle progressed. He apparently completely surprised Jackie of the fighting Feldmaan clan, who rated him as just another foe. The deposed champ left the ring completely shocked by the loss of his title, but revived soon after reaching the dressing room to press Doc Studer for a return engagement.

Sexton when approached by Studer to defend his newly won crown, was rather reluctant to meet Feldman at an early date, evidently wishing to hold his laurels as long as possible. He and his manager could not agree upon meeting Feldman at any set date, but promised that they would consider a match within 30 days. Studer kept the promise in mind with the view of signing the two for a return engagement as soon as possible.

In the meantime, Feldman kept imploring the Doc to get him a return match with Sexton so that he might regain the crown that he lost and which means considerable to him as a drawing card in amateur clubs operate, near his home. "Feldy" can get lots of bouts as long as he holds a title and he is without one now. His anxiety to reclaim his lost laurels promises that he will extend himself to beat Sexton and Eddie's eagerness to hold the title goes a long way toward bolstering Doc Studer's contention that the match should be the best since the opening of the outdoor boxing season.

Watkins Anxious.

Another bout that should be one well worth seeing is the match between Big Smoke Watkins, "Tarzan of the Brickyards," and Nick Alteri of Schenectady. These two met last week in a short-lived encounter that was awarded to the upstater because the negro giant hit him while he was down and was disqualified by Referee Bill Singer.

Cessation of hostilities in the ring brought about no armistice between the two "beef trusts" scrappers. They went at it verbally in the dressing room and almost came to blows to settle the issue. Their conversations went as follows:

Watkins—Ise mad. That referee had no business to stop us. I didn't hit you on purpose when you were down. My hand slipped.

Alteri—Shut up. You get paid off as the loser and that's what you deserve. You don't know how to fight anyhow. Imagine hitting a man when he's down!

Watkins—I wish Mr. Doc Studer would put us on again. Boy, don't I hope he does. I'll hit you so hard that you'll have to be carried out of the ring. And I hope that they make that Mr. Referee do the carrying, just so I can get even with him for stopping that last fight.

Just as Watkins finished talking, Doc Studer hurried into the dressing quarter, which is the pool room at the Legion building, to investigate the loud talking. He heard Alteri answer Big Smoke in this manner as he picked up a cue from the billiard table:

"I'll put you up in the side pocket, 'Eight Ball', if you don't let me alone. Now, that's final."

Grudge Match Made

Doc, sensing that the boys would go well in a return match, persuaded them to save their energy and store up all the ill feeling for Monday, September 26, and settled the matter in the ring.

Watkins seemed to be the favorite in the match last week until he committed what once would have been called a foul. There are many who still contend that he is capable of kayoing Alteri and say that they would not miss the next match between the two if they had to pay their way in by selling peanuts.

Incidentally, there is one change in the original card announced by Doc Studer. Joe Raymond will take the place of Blaz Paradise against Buddy Emerson in the special six rounder. Paradise has a bad cut over one of his eyes, the result of a hard fight in which he took part Wednesday night.

The full card is scheduled for 25 rounds. Starting time is 8:30.

High School Opens Season On Saturday

For the past two days Coach G. Warren Kias has been giving the Maroon varsity special drill on the Athletic Field. He has been stressing formations on both the defense and offense, in close and open play and on the kickoff. This has been the main work of the team since Tuesday when the only scrimmage of the week was held.

Thursday afternoon the boys spent the majority of their time on signal drill with dummies lined up for the opposing line. Kias put the boys through the line bucks with an occasional pass and end run for variation.

Wednesday afternoon the first and second team lined up against one another and went through the signals, the teams shifting from the offense and defense. This was one of the most practical drills of the week and Kias seemed greatly pleased with the results. It cleared up more rough spots in the team's functioning than any other workout.

The boys appear full of pep although the days are fine for only baseball and swimming. Still warm weather enables the gridders to play with less chance of becoming injured. However, it will probably be cooler in the mountains Saturday afternoon than it is down here.

Kingston will have its strength tested Saturday and a few weak spots in the Maroon play might lead to disaster.

Change of Heart

By JANE OSBORN

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.)

"MADGE dear!"

"Walter."

That was the way they began. After a separation of four months Madge had written to Walter and said him that she would be glad to have him call that Saturday afternoon, and she had anticipated the little interview under the grape arbor beside her father's country house with a tenseness that somehow seemed to leave her, now that she actually saw the slender young man approach her with outstretched hands.

"I wanted to tell you, Walter—dear," she said permitting him to take her hands gently in his as they sat down together on the bench under the arbor, "that I've changed my mind entirely—about what a girl ought to do. I didn't let you know because I wanted to be sure; and I wanted to surprise you, I—"

"But Madge, dear," said the young man, "you were perhaps entirely right. I've been thinking things over myself. I realize that conditions are not what they were when our mothers were young. My cousin has been spending the summer with us—Martha Stone—I know you'd like her and I have told her all about you. She believes as you do—that in these days a girl has the right to choose—whether she wants to devote herself to domestic matters or follow some career that she's really better suited for."

Madge looked up amazed but the young man continued. "The fact is, Madge—dear—that Martha somehow put the matter so I understood it. Martha has wonderful ideas—I know you and she will be great friends. She herself says 'that if she ever marries she will continue her music teaching.'"

Madge just sat and looked at Walter and felt the gentle pressure of his hand on hers without a bit of the thrill that she had expected. Six months ago when they saw each other for the last time they had come to a serious disagreement. They were making plans for an autumn wedding, and Madge had declared that she never intended to do any sort of housework. She had got her appointment as a high school teacher and she liked the work. Walter had protested—Walter who was ordinarily quite mild of manner had actually become quite angry. The engagement had not been actually broken, but Madge had gone off to visit an aunt and they had arranged between themselves not even to write for six months. They would think matters over in the meantime.

So Madge had gone to visit her aunt. Still wearing her engagement ring she met a nephew of her aunt's husband—Tom Bradford—and before many weeks had passed she had told Tom of her anxieties.

"I don't blame your Walter in the least," Tom had said. "I'd never want to marry a girl who wouldn't take an interest in her own home. If a girl didn't care enough for me to be willing to do that I wouldn't think she cared enough for me to marry me."

After that Madge registered in a school of domestic science and before another week had passed she was deeply interested in dietetics, cooking, household administration and was taking a course in dressmaking besides.

And here she was—Madge with Walter—waiting to tell him her great surprise—and Walter was in no mood to listen to her.

"So you see we really have my cousin Martha to thank," Walter was saying. "She showed me how absurd it would be for you—when you might be earning several thousand dollars a years even to start with—to be wasting your time on housework.

"She even suggested taking apartments—then we would both be quite free and we could get meals out and not bother keeping any maid. Martha has wonderful ideas—you certainly must meet her. Now you must tell me what you wanted to tell me about," said Walter.

Madge had slipped the ring from her finger that she had worn faithfully for six months of her absence. "I've been thinking things over, Walter. I really do think a great deal of you. But I was thinking that perhaps after all we oughtn't to be married. We might not have disagreed the way we did unless we were a little unsuited—"

Walter released the hand he had been holding—very gently, without apparently any emotion. "Well, of course," he said, "it is better to find that out now then later. My cousin Martha has such good ideas about marriage. She says she thinks most of the divorces nowadays are due to the fact that people don't really—" Walter went on but Madge did not hear him. She was thinking of Tom that evening she left her aunt's. He had held her hand in a close grasp for a minute, then raising it impulsively to his lips he had kissed it and let it drop.

"Of course I want you to marry your Walter if he can make you happy," he said. "But he can't possibly love you more than I do."

"I think perhaps I could make Tom happier than I could you," Madge told Walter. "And of course there's your cousin Martha." He was wondering as he fingered the ring whether it would be too small for Martha.

City Bowling Meeting Tonight

The meeting to make plans for the coming season will be held by the City Bowling League at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock. President Peter Kereseman will preside over the session which everyone interested in the league is advised to attend.

All of the eight teams that competed in the circuit last year are expected to enter again, including the championship Immaculata, Colonials, Uptown Merchants, St. Peter's, Lyceums, Livingstone, American Legion and Y. M. C. A.

Two new teams it is understood will apply for membership in the league. They are the Triangles of the "Y" and the Central Hudsons.

Following the meeting a schedule for the first half of the season will be drawn.

Officials of the league, besides President Kereseman, are Charles Peet, vice president; John Rathle, treasurer, and Bill Thiel, secretary.

Horseshoe Pitching Results.

The Poughkeepsie members of the Hudson Valley Horseshoe Pitchers Club failed to appear at Forsyth Park Thursday evening for a scheduled match. Chester Albertson, state champion, and W. H. Brown of Florida played two exhibition games, which resulted in the score, Albertson, 50; Brown, 24. Other scores of the evening included Baur, 50; Bailey, 18.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 23 (AP) Stock market bulls, interested in the prospects of slowly expanding autumn business, bid up prices of their favorite shares today, although trading was quiet on the upturn.

Rails commanded particular attention, Lackawanna running up 4 points to a new high and gains of 2 points or better developing in Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Reading, Atlantic Coast Line and Lehigh Valley. The steel stocks also lent their shoulder to the advance, most of them gaining substantially. Gulf States jumped 5 points to a new high. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Youngstown were up 2 or more.

Oils, dampened by gasoline price cuts, were soggy. Standard of New Jersey yielding a point or so. But the main line of industrials and utilities followed the rails and steels. United Aircraft soared 4 points to a new high, and Case and Allied Chemical were up 3 or more. Du Pont, Air Reduction, Cocoa Cola, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse and American Telephone rose about 2.

Wall street awaited with lively interest the outcome of the meeting of eastern trunk line railroad leaders. Expectation was general that the executives were making progress toward reaching an agreement of consolidation in this territory.

Additional carloadings statements by individual roads lent further support to the hope that tomorrow's figures, covering all class 1 roads for the week ended September 17, would show more than a seasonal gain over the Labor Day week. Estimates of the probable increase ran as high as 80,000 to 100,000 cars.

The trade reviews were encouraging. Bradstreet's Weekly reported a general opinion that "business is slowly beginning a fundamental recovery," and said the "seasonal advances, noted recently, continued sustained." Dun's said there had been no reversal in the recent improving trend, "although there was a general leveling of gains this week, with volume spreading in more directions." A "hardening of prices" was reported which is "awakening manufacturers, distributors and consumers to a realization of the changed conditions."

Man's "Allotted Years" Disputed by Scientist

Deterioration in old people is not due chiefly to any inevitable defect in the bodily machinery; it appears more in feeling than it exists in fact. This was the conclusion of Prof. Walter R. Miles, of Stanford university, published in a report of the National Academy of Sciences.

The statement was based on a series of mental and physical tests of more than 800 persons which proved that many individuals of seventy years and over responded as readily and accurately to tests as did many not over fifty. The slowing down of the activities of aged persons, Professor Miles concluded, was attributable to a psychological defensive measure.

In large part, doubtless, it is a concession to opinion and an effect of tradition. The aging person so frequently is told he is "getting old" and must slow down that he obeys ; s bowing to the inevitable. In like manner probably many succumb to ailments which they might resist were they not induced by their frame of mind to accept them as necessary and invincible enemies. It is quite possible that the age limit might be considerably extended were it not for the age-old tradition that man's allotted span is threescore years and ten.

Professor Miles' studies should encourage those worthy enthusiasts who set their stake at attaining the century mark.—Detroit News.

Truly Bostonian

A prim maiden lady who had spent all her years in the Bostonian atmosphere went to see some relatives who lived in a nearby state. Shortly after the train pulled out of the station she noticed a slab of granite beside the track which read "1-m(ile) from Boston." The lady, thinking it was a tombstone, read, "I'm from Boston"—and added to herself, "How very simple and yet how sufficient."—Pathfinder Magazine.

FAREWELL CEREMONIES FOR FATHER SCULLY

The fairwell ceremonies marking the departure for New York of the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will be held in the school hall, Broadway and McEntee street, tonight, starting promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

In order that all may have ample opportunity to attend the farewell, the regular Friday church services will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening instead of 8.

Jews Prepare For Rosh Hashanah

This evening's Sabbath Service at Temple Emanuel will be the last before the Jewish New Year. The service will be at 7:30 o'clock and Rabbi Victor Eppstein will speak informally on the recent drama taking as his theme, "Pseudo-Mysticism on the Stage". The public is welcome.

On Saturday, October 1, the Jews will celebrate the festival of the New Year, or Rosh Hashanah. Religious services ushering in the year 5693 will be held on that day in all the synagogues of the world. The holiday commences at sunset Friday evening, September 30.

The festival is distinguished by the blowing of the Shofar or ram's horn. In addition to its joyous and optimistic character, it is one of great solemnity and sacredness. On Rosh Hashanah the worshippers call to mind the misdeeds of the past year with a view to consecrating themselves to a nobler life during the years to come. The religious service which marks the observance of the holy day emphasized that the doors to improvement and betterment is constantly open.

The New Year is the beginning of the most sacred of the Jewish holiday seasons. It is the first of the Ten Days of Penitence, culminating in the Day of Atonement, the holiest and most sacred day in the Jewish calendar. A few days after the Day of Atonement, the Feast of Sukkoth or Tabernacles is celebrated during a period of eight days, in commemoration of the ancient Palestinian harvest festival and of the wanderings of the Israelites through the wilderness.

Rosh Hashanah is the traditional day for the exchange of greetings and good wishes and for the pardoning of grievances between individuals. The day is joyfully observed along with its devotional character. The House of Worship is adorned in white; the music and the liturgy are adapted to the penitential themes of the day.

Mahatma Gandhi May Break Fast Today

Poona, India, Sept. 23 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi's death fast in protest against the British government's plan to solve the electoral problem for the millions of India's lower caste of untouchables may be ended today.

Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, one of his former lieutenants who has been active in the conferences of Indian leaders to reach a compromise during the last two days, visited the Mahatma early this morning and said afterward he hoped an agreement would be reached before the day is over which would enable Gandhi to partake of food again.

The Mahatma himself slept well during the night, lying on a webbed cot under a somewhat shabby mango tree in the yard in front of the jail, when he awoke he conducted his morning prayers as usual.

Predictions were made yesterday following a long heart-to-heart talk between the conference leaders and Gandhi, that an agreement would be worked out today, but his closest friends felt tense about the situation, fearing at the last minute he might pick out some flaw in the proposed agreement and refuse to accept it.

Benny Coster Held For Grand Jury

Casimo Aidala, alias Benny Coster, of 45 Henry street, arrested early Thursday morning by Special Officer Edward Mahoney of the Kingston Police Department in conection with the bombing of the Theodore S. Funk clothing manufacturing plant at 11 Chambers street, Newburgh, was held in bond for the Orange County grand jury, now in session, when he had his hearing in recorder's court this morning.

Aidala, or Coster as he is better known, having used that name as a prizefighter some years ago, was arrested on evidence pointing to him as an accomplice in the bombing. It is alleged that two suspicious characters making their escape from the Funk plant just previous to the explosion drove away in an automobile said to be Coster's. Two youths attracted by the actions of the men furnished the police with the number of the car.

Damage done by the explosion of the bomb in the Funk establishment, which was being operated as an "open shop", is estimated at $500.

Mayor Promises Tax Reduction

ead and that $45 they was a still [illegible] reduction."

Concerning the certificates of indebtedness which the city has refused to get loans banks when they became due because they were [illegible] the mayor stated that Justice Staley had upheld his contention. The latter said that there was a question of the legality of the certificates which was a matter for a jury to decide but that there was a strict moral obligation to pay.

Money on Hand

The mayor said that there was money on hand to pay the certificates but that no compromise had been reached as yet. He offered to pay the certificates in full with interest to March 15 less $1, but the banks are asking for interest to date. He said the banks take the position that the taxpayers would suffer the loss of interest which they are not receiving while the problem is being debated. "I expect that the situation will be ironed out before long," he said.

"I don't see the sympathy in my position, but I do ask the cooperation of every citizen during these hard times and plead with you to aid me in giving the city the best possible government it has had in the past."

Mr. Stratton thanked the speaker for his address and the meeting closed with a song led by Paul Zurala accompanied at the piano by Danny Ritter.

You love to watch him

EAT!

It gives you a real thrill, to see your youngster dip lustily into the cereal bowl. You know he's doing his part toward building growth and health.

So give him a bowl of Kellogg's Rice Krispies and milk. Breakfast, lunch or supper—watch him eat! Rice Krispies fascinate children. Delicious, toasted rice bubbles that actually crackle in milk or cream.

Nourishing Rice Krispies are so easy to digest, they don't overtax. So much better than many heavy dishes—particularly at supper.
